

Indian River Inlet + Charity

One of my favorite charities is the Indian River Inlet Charity. The reason I like this charity is, it helps handicapped people fish. Also, it donates fish, fishing rods, lures, boats, baits, and sinkers. Another reason I like this charity is, it donates money to keep the beaches clean. Lastly, I appreciate this charity because every year it holds a handicapped fishing derby.

IRIS favorite things to donate is fishing rods and tackle to use for fishing. Another thing they love to do is build fishing piers that go out to the middle of Indian River Inlet. One time they built a fishing pier that was 120 yards long. It also had wheelchair lifters so that the handicapped fisherman could cast further. They built a fishing pier since that day that goes out 120 yards.

That is what the Indian River Inlet charity does. If you want to help handicapped people fish donate to the Indian River Inlet charity.
